SYDNEY R. MASON

SYDNEY R. MASON entered the employ of the Whitin Machine Works July 1, 1910 and for two years received special training in the shop. Since that time he has served as a manager and officer of the Company, and is presently the secretary of the corporation, an office he has held since 1917. Over the years he has taken an active interest in the affairs of the town and has served on numerous committees. He has been a member of the Board of Incorporators of the Whitinsville Hospital since its inception in 1915 and was president from 1928 through 1959. He is president of the Whitinsville National Bank, a member of the Board of Trustees and a member of the investment committee of the Whitinsville Savings Bank. Mr. and Mrs. Mason reside at 10 Chestnut Street, and they have one daughter, Priscilla, who lives in Washington, D. C.

WALTER S. BOUTILIER

WALTER S. BOUTILIER is better known around Whitinsville as “Scratch,” a nickname that has lasted since his early baseball days. He played right field on the old Tiger team which was well known throughout the Blackstone Valley around 1910.

Walter was born in Whitinsville on October 25, 1894. His first employment was for David Marshall on the Loom Job in January, 1910. A few years later he was transferred to the Planer Job where he worked until he left to serve in World War I. After the war he returned to the Planer Job and remained there until 1942, at which time he was transferred to the Drawing Job. In March of 1954 he became an elevator operator in Department 407 and has worked there since that time. He lives at the Blue Eagle Inn.

ADELARD J. (Dollar) DUHAMEL

With the exception of two years when he worked on the Spinning Erecting Floor, Del Duhamel has spent his entire time in the Packing section of the Traffic Department. In March of 1944, he was made supervisor of repairs in the office, a position he still holds.

Del was born in Sutton, Mass., on November 5, 1894. In 1904 his family moved to Whitinsville. At that time Del didn't know that in 1951 he would return to live in the town where he was born. He bought a home in Sutton and now spends much of his spare time raising all kinds of vegetables and working around the house. He has two daughters, one is at home and one is employed in the Order Administrative Department. Many early baseball fans in Whitinsville still remember the days when Del played third base on the old Tiger baseball team.

JAMES F. CAHILL

JAMES F. CAHILL has been a resident of Whitinsville since the day he was born on November 25, 1895. With the exception of the months he served his country during World War I, Whitin Machine Works has been his only employer. He started his employment in the Freight House in February, 1910. He later was transferred to the Loom Job and then to the Roll Job. In 1914 he went to the Foundry to learn the molder's trade. He left the Whitin Machine Works to enlist in the U. S. Navy. Upon his discharge from the service, he returned to the Foundry and worked there until 1942. Then he was transferred to the guard force where he is now.

Jim has three sons. He owns his home at 16 Border Street and spends most of his spare time enjoying sports, television and his grandchildren.

Sydney R. Mason is presented his gold watch by J. Hugh Bolton

More than 250 active and retired Whitin senior employees attended a banquet in their honor in the Cafeteria, September 8. Many retired men travelled from distant points to renew old friendships on this auspicious occasion.

The banquet was given for the 294 employees who have served the Company for 40 or more years. Together they have amassed the enormous total of 13,513 years and 8 months of continuous service.

After extending a warm welcome to the senior employees, Mr. Bolton, President, cited the following longevity statistics. His analysis of the service records showed that five retired employees had served the Company from 60 years up to and including 65 years; in the group with service of 50 years up to and including 59 years there are 10 active employees and 59 retired employees, or a total of 69 employees; in the group with service of 40 years up to and including 49 years there are 117 active and 103 retired employees, or a total of 220 employees. The record totals 127 active employees and 167 retired, or a grand total of 294 employees with 40 or more years of service.

Mr. Bolton called upon Norman F. Garrett, General Manager of the Whitinsville Division, who presented service pins to the new forty-year group. Mr. Garrett said, “It is a somewhat humbling experience to stand in the presence of so many individuals who have served the Company for so many years. I feel that what we have here tonight is the very epitome of the American way of life. As a nation, Americans have learned how to meet a challenge, how to work and live together in harmony. Certainly in the Whitin Machine Works we are tangible evidence of this American way of life.”

Before presenting watches to the new fifty-year men, Mr. Bolton spoke of the many changes which have taken place in the textile industry in recent years. He cited a number of textile machinery manufacturers, once as strong as Whitin, which are no longer in existence. He pointed out that when mills such as Paul Whitin Mfg. Company or Bachmann Uxbridge Worsted Corporation close, it presents a problem to entire communities. Even Whitin is affected by the sale of their relatively modern machinery on the second-hand market. Whenever a mill buys these second-hand machines, many thousands of production hours are lost to Whitin Machine Works’ employees as the sale of new machinery is delayed several years.

To make sure that the Whitin Machine Works remains strong, management has taken firm steps in reducing overhead and in reorganizing. “But in addition,” said Mr. Bolton, “we must have full cooperation of each employee in the plant. The continued growth of the Whitin Machine Works will be assured only if everyone does his best.”

In recognition of long and loyal service to the Company, Mr. Bolton presented a watch to each of the new fifty-year men: Sydney R. Mason, corporation secretary since 1917; Walter S. Boutilier, elevator operator; James F. Cahill, plant guard; Adelard J. (Delle) Duhamel, supervisor in Shipping Department; Fred Kramer, Timothy Brosnahan and Archie L. Fournier, retirees this year. Harold J. Kane, Foundry machine maintenance man, was unable to attend.

WHITIN PERSONALITY

William Barber, Foreman of the Millwrights and the Structural Steel Department, already had two sisters and three brothers when he was born in Whitinsville, November 14, 1917. He remained the youngest in the Barber Family.

After graduating from Northbridge High School in 1936, Bill started his employment at Whitin as a millwright's helper. During the next fifteen years he advanced to millwright first class. In April of 1951, he was promoted to foreman of the Millwrights. Recently, he was appointed foreman also of the Structural Steel Department.

While employed at Whitin, Bill continued his education in the evenings and Saturdays at the Massachusetts Diesel Institute, Boston, and Worcester Trade School. At the Institute he majored in engineering and graduated in 1940. In 1944, he graduated from Trade School as a machinist.

In October, 1942 Bill married Edith MacDormand of Lynn. They have a daughter, Maureen, age 15 years, who is a junior in the Northbridge High School.

Bill has a variety of spare time pursuits. He is a trustee and a past exalted ruler in the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Milford. In 1951, he received his private pilot's license and since then has spent many enjoyable hours flying. At one time he owned his own plane but sold it when he decided to build a new home for his family on Highland Street, Whitinsville.

Another favorite pastime, which he particularly enjoys, is boating on Webster Lake. He spends his week ends and vacations on a 24 foot houseboat which he built in 1958.

A CONTEST BUT NOT A SPLIT

An Election Year can bring out the best or the worst in our people. It is a time when feelings are strong and excitement is high. People all over the world are watching us. Some—even in this country—would like to see an election so bitterly fought that it leaves us divided and detesting each other. Then they would have a better chance of gaining power.

But we have an answer for that. Carry on the campaign—vigorously but fairly. Then, once the returns are in, unite in support of the winner. Not only will we strengthen this country's position in the world by staying united but the rest of the world will see that we can take elections “in our stride.”
After presenting Whitin Certificate to James Allam, Mr. Bolton congratulated him while Mrs. Allam looked on

Albert John is congratulated by C. L. Utterback, of U. S. Department of Labor, after being presented Journeymen's Certificate. Mrs. John is looking on

A Record graduating class of Whitin Machine Works apprentices heard praise on August 30th for their own achievements and for "a company which for nearly a century has been willing to invest money in men and not only in buildings and materials." These remarks were made by C. L. Utterback, Chief of Field Operations, U. S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, Washington, D. C., as he gave the principal address at the graduation exercises of the Apprentice School, Class of 1960.

"Skilled craftsmen capable of translating design into reality is one of the urgent and growing needs of this country in the critical years ahead," said Mr. Utterback, who presented the twenty graduates with their Massachusetts Journeymen's Certificates.

J. Hugh Bolton, President of Whitin, presented company graduation certificates to the class members. Mr. Bolton spoke of the importance of the Apprentice Training Program to both the apprentice and the company. He pointed out the care exercised by the company in selecting applicants and of the expert and thorough training each man receives in his chosen trade. Mr. Bolton further emphasized the increasing complexities of the company's line of products and the continuing need not only for a higher degree of skill in the various crafts, but also the need for training in leadership which the courses afford.

Who'll be the next President of the United States? This is the question on millions of minds now, but few people today realize how different the question was in 1887. Then, at the Constitutional Convention, one hotly debated question was this: Should we have a President?

Many of the delegates were afraid that a single Chief Executive would have altogether too many chances to turn himself into a dictator, and favored the establishment of a three-man executive committee to carry out the will of the Legislature.

The most important reason why supporters of a one-man executive finally won out may well have been that everybody was sure that George Washington—whom all the delegates knew and trusted—would get the job.

Washington thought he had his hands full as President of a 13-state U.S.A. with a population of 3.9 million.

"These public meetings with reference to and from different departments of state are as much if not more than I am able to undergo," he wrote in 1790.

But over the past 170 years, the President's job has grown as fast as the U.S. itself.

Washington during a typical year of his administration, signed 44 laws and one executive order; President Eisenhower is maintaining an average of 944 laws and 60 executive orders a year. Washington granted nine pardons and gave Federal jobs to 65 people in 1791; Eisenhower has averaged an annual 112 pardons and 43,537 jobs (including military and Post Office appointments). Washington's first budget was written on a single sheet of paper; the current Eisenhower budget runs to 1030 pages, with a 188-page appendix.

Today's President holds down not one job, but five—and any one of the five could fill an eight-hour day. He is:

...Head of State, the nation's chief ceremonial officer—a job that involves everything from presiding at banquets for visiting dignitaries to throwing out the first baseball of the season for the Washington Senators.

...Chief Diplomat, the leader of the Free World and the U.S. top representative in its dealings with all other nations.

...Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces.

...Chief Legislative Policy-Maker, with power to exercise tremendous influence on the making of our laws by initiating or amending bills, pushing them through Congress or vetoing them.

...Chief Executive, the boss of all Federal employees and the top law enforcement officer.

Also, according to the Voter's Handbook, his primary commitment is to the "Great American Imperatives," goals upon which most people in both parties—and most "independent" voters—are agreed.

These are:

1. In foreign policy, to work towards the freedom of men and nations throughout the world; to keep the peace, but at the same time to keep the U.S. and her allies strong enough to win a war should one become inevitable.

2. In domestic policy, to insure economic prosperity for all, with equal and available opportunities to work (according to ability) at adequate wages; to keep the dollar reasonably stable; to plan for economic growth that will keep a growing labor force busy and living standards rising; to protect every citizen from economic disaster in unemployment, long illness or old age.

What can you do in this Presidential year?

1. Know the candidates and the issues.

2. Enroll in a party.

3. Make a contribution of money to your party. Keep your candidate free from financial obligation to special interest groups.

4. Be a "campaign committee of one"—talk up your candidate to your family, friends and co-workers.

5. Don't fail to vote. Remember one electoral vote put Rutherford B. Hayes in the White House and one congressional vote saved Selective Service 12 weeks before Pearl Harbor.

Don't forget, when you go to the polls this November, you'll be an employer choosing the best men to handle one of the world's toughest jobs—President of the United States.
Three Sides of Compensation . . .

Straight Compensation—
the wages you get in return for the work that you do.

Workmen's Compensation—
the income that you get when you are physically unable to work, because of an injury on the job.

Unemployment Compensation—the income you get when you are laid off through no fault of your own.

WHO DOES THE COMPENSATING . . .
WHO PAYS?

Your employer . . .
pays you wages in exchange for the work you do.
pays the whole cost of administration and benefits for the workmen's compensation program.
pays the whole cost of administration and benefits for the unemployment compensation program.
The work you do establishes your straight compensation.
But the State Legislature decides how much you get under Workmen’s Compensation and Unemployment Compensation, and sets the rules to determine who is eligible.

The State Legislature determines the kind of compensation program required in Massachusetts. The costs are then billed to Massachusetts employers as taxes or premiums.

Employees pay NOTHING for Workmen’s Compensation and Unemployment Compensation.

HOW DOES YOUR EMPLOYER RAISE THE MONEY?

In this country, a manufacturer establishes the cost of his product through a breakdown of wages, materials, equipment and overhead costs involved in the production of his product or service. To raise the money to meet any increased costs assessed by our State Legislature he must raise the price of his product.

AND THE CUSTOMER PAYS

But if another manufacturer in another state has a lower bill for compensation costs, he is able to manufacture and sell the same product at less cost.

Naturally, the customer buys his product.

Thus the sale is lost to Massachusetts. Lost sales mean less job security in Massachusetts.

As long as your company can offer products priced so that customers will buy them . . . then your job and the opportunity to advance are safe. But if compensation benefits in Massachusetts—and the mandatory taxes and premiums which support them—are out of line with what other states require their employers to pay, your company will find it is more and more difficult to sell its products on the open market.

Right now, Massachusetts law provides for the most liberal compensation program in the nation for unemployed and injured workers. And this is reflected in the cost of Massachusetts-made products. The danger is, of course, that the politician’s natural concern for the unemployed and the injured can exceed the ability of employers to price their products competitively. And, employers must price their products competitively if they are going to sell them.

When people across the nation look at the price tags on the products they buy, they do not consider the benefits available to the employees who made them in Massachusetts.

PLAN IS BASICALLY SOUND

Whitin wants to continue being a good employer . . . an employer that does all it can economically to provide adequately for the welfare of its employees. We certainly approve of the basic purpose of Employment Security benefits—which is to tide over a recognized, regular wage earner when he is out of work through no fault of his own. And we approve of the basic purpose of Workmen’s Compensation. But, if certain abuses continue to exist in both Unemployment Compensation and Workmen’s Compensation, it is going to become increasingly difficult to do business competitively in Massachusetts.

The original Unemployment law has been amended to a point where no longer is only the legitimate claimant entitled to benefits but also malingerers, seasonal workers and other individuals who DON’T REALLY WANT TO WORK and find it possible to bleed the program for their income.

MASSACHUSETTS NEEDS JOBS

The purpose of the Workmen’s Compensation laws is to provide medical, surgical and hospital care and a reasonable part of the wages lost, at the employer’s expense, for workers suffering injuries arising out of and in the course of their employment. But again, there are abuses in this program. In the past ten years, the Legislature has made 50 amendments of the Massachusetts law. Excluding trivialities, all have liberalized its provisions and none has corrected its defects. In the overall liberality of its provisions, the Massachusetts law is rated at the top among the states.

Massachusetts has many competitive problems which are beyond control—such as location. The cost of benefit programs is one which can be controlled.

What Massachusetts needs now is to “trim ship.” Jobs are more important than benefits. And, to expand jobs in Massachusetts, Massachusetts companies need to sell more products. Sometimes our legislators forget this simple economic law. It is our job to remind them.
THE GYM'S PHYSICAL "FITNESS" PROGRAM

BY HAROLD CASE

Just what is physical fitness? Is it huge biceps and the ability to lift heavy weights? Not really. Is it freedom from illness or disability? Not always. A person can be quite well and still ineffective in his work, ailing in body and spirit.

If you're really at your best, you are cheerful on awakening . . . spirited and productive in your work . . . relaxed but not exhausted when evening comes.

How does one achieve this feeling of well-being? For one thing, diet is important. But without a doubt, exercise also is invaluable in keeping fit. Your muscle tone, blood circulation, breathing, freedom from aches and pains—all depend in large measure on your getting enough exercise.

This fall and winter we invite everyone to participate in a general physical fitness program at the Gym. Activities have been planned for everyone in your family. There will be calisthenic classes for both men and women. Also planned for the women is the popular "Slim-Trim" class which will be held on Tuesday evenings.

For the men who enjoy more strenuous exercise, badminton games will be included in the program. This old English game was a popular sport this summer in many backyard courts. A number of enthusiasts have decided to carry over the competition to the Gym this winter. The new Gym floor now has three courts instead of two and twelve players can be having a workout simultaneously.

After a year's lapse of basketball, all the former players and a crop of new ones are eager to get going again. In the Gym league two years before the fire, there were many exciting games. This year basketball should be even better than previous years. The Gym has all new equipment—new lights, new score-board, new glass backboards, new bleachers, new balls, etc. Shut off the TV set and come down and root for your favorite team.

Another fine game for getting you in condition is volleyball. People of all ages can play this game without fear of overexercising. Also, when played properly, it is fully as scientific as baseball, basketball or any other team sport. A league has been scheduled for the months ahead and at least four teams are expected to enter and possibly six. If anyone is interested in playing or organizing a team from any department in the Whitin Machine Works, now is the time to get word to the Gym office.

For those who do not prefer team play, there will be boxing, wrestling and judo. The boys will even have an opportunity to attend boxing classes.

Naturally the swimming pool will be going full speed again. Emphasis on improving an individual's ability will be the main goal. Last summer almost five hundred children were registered in the beginners' classes and many of this group passed to deep-water swimming. There are many adults who cannot swim and perhaps they do not know that there is an opportunity to learn right here in Whitinsville with people their own age. It is never too late to learn so if you fall into this category why not take the big step now and enjoy the beaches next summer?

There must be something which you would enjoy doing as a member of a group so why not call or drop in at the Gym and find out how you can best be served?

Leon G. Garabedian, our personality of the month, was born and educated in Harpoot, Turkey. Leon came to Whitinsville in 1912 and started to work on the Roll Job in 1915. A few years later he joined the French Army in 1917 to fight for a free world. This explains the picture in uniform. Leon did make a good-looking soldier as you can see. After his hitch in the Army he went back to his native country and met Lucy Boutjian whom he married and brought back to Whitinsville. Leon and Lucy now own the block they live in at 38 D Street. They have six children, 3 boys and 3 girls. Two of the boys, Michael and Kurken work at Whitin as draftsmen and an other boy Tom is an engineer in Pennsylvania. For hobbies Leon always has his gardening and he likes to read.

The get-together club of the Repair gang, which includes Romeo Heroux, Bud Martin, Ed Kilcline and guests Nell LeClaire and Bill Galleshaw, went on one of their outings. They had dinner at the Oyster House, went to a ball game and later on went to the races in Foxboro where they bought food and blankets for some of their favorite nags. . . . Bob Dion had a sore back after harvesting his bountiful crop of tomatoes. . . . Well I've fulfilled half of my golfing ambition, I have beaten Rollie Wilson and Paul Mintoff, now the only two left are Jack Riley and Ed Scott. . . . Don Henry can really row a boat even when it is raining and the anchor is dragging. . . . They must play cribbage differently in Douglas because Joe Prior and Henry Forget just don't play the same game. Henry has even put the East Douglas hoodoo curse on Jack Riley. . . . Karl Rankin spent two weeks at Orleans on the Cape and the boys have kept a day-by-day weather chart of Bob Caston's vacation. . . . Bart Shugrue gave me a piece of cake the other day. He didn't say, but I think it was some of his wedding cake.

Ko-Ko Barsamian has a new 1957 black and yellow Fairlane Ford. . . . Jack Riley heard about the birds and bees lately—at least the bees. Jack was doing some landscaping when he uncovered a nest of them. . . . Henry Forget and the boys launched their new aluminum boat the "Molly Bee." Henry by the way celebrated his 50th birthday July 23. Congratulations from all the gang Henry, even if we didn't get our orders filled for your sweet corn. . . . If you have trouble digesting your food, check with Bart Shugrue, he has a secret detergent cooking formula. Ed Kilcline and the repair gang fed a starving dog a lunch at noon. At 4 o'clock the dog followed Ed right to his car. Ed said, I'd like to take you home, "But you ain't nothing but a hound dog." . . . Harold Kane has completed 50 years of service in the Whitin Machine Works. Congratulations.

N. F. Garrett, E. Kent Swift, Jr.
Named to New Positions

Norman F. Garrett, Vice President of Whitin Machine Works and General Manager of its Whitinsville Division, was named Executive Vice President of the Corporation at a special meeting of the Board of Directors on September 13.

The promotion was announced by Mr. J. Hugh Bolton, President of Whitin, who pointed out that, "In this newly-created position Mr. Garrett will be able to bring to Whitin’s entire operation the same forward-looking management approach that has proved so effective since he was placed in charge of the Whitinsville operations last October.

"Assumption of these broader responsibilities by Mr. Garrett will strengthen Whitin’s established position of leadership in their various fields of endeavor,” Mr. Bolton said.

Mr. Garrett, a graduate of Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, formerly was Vice President, Manufacturing, of the Crane Company, Chicago, Ill.; and Vice President—Operations, Motor Products Corporation, Detroit, Mich. He resides in Mendon, Mass.

Whitin Increases Research and Development

"Further emphasis must be placed on our Research and Development Program,” stated Mr. J. Hugh Bolton, President of Whitin Machine Works, in announcing the appointment of Mr. E. Kent Swift, Jr. as Vice President, Research and Development. Mr. Swift, former Director of Research at Whitin, will now have the added responsibility for Development Engineering in the newly organized Development Department.

To effectuate this enlarged Research and Development Program, Mr. Swift will be assisted by Dr. Zoltan S. Szaloki, recently named Director of Research, and a Director of Development as yet to be appointed. Both Research and Development Departments are to be increased in size by the addition of certain technical specialists.

In making this new appointment, Mr. Bolton referred to the many advances made by Whitin in the last few years, such as the Whitin PIEDMONT Spinning Frame, the Whitin EVEN-DRAFT Draw Frame, and the Whitin Model P Roving Frame, all of which were exhibited at the recent American Textile Machinery Exhibition—International in Atlantic City, N. J. He reiterated, however, that if Whitin were to retain its commanding lead in the field of textile preparatory machinery, increased emphasis must be placed on this important phase of Whitin’s operations. "It is expected,” he stated, "that this expansion of our Research and Development Departments under Mr. Swift will ensure the continuance of our outstanding reputation for the world’s most Advanced Textile Machinery in the years to come.”

by Fred Chaffee and Ray Woodcome

Arthur Ricardo and his family spent the Labor Day week end in Canada. . . . Joe Digregorio has a new hi-fi. . . . We have all heard of the socialized medicine program, but John Cellini has already solved that problem with nature’s remedies, herbs, roots, etc. Good luck John. . . . The Methods Department had a clam bake on August 19 at Point Breeze. It was supervised by Wendell Piper. It was an enjoyable evening which concluded with dancing. Wage Standards was invited and I am sure that those who attended enjoyed themselves too.

We had Jonathan Gestetner working in our office for a short time. He is from England and is in his third year at M.I.T. While at Whitin he was learning about the duplicator.

by Jean Legere and Gloria Novack

A party was held at Aunt Mary’s on August 26 to say goodbye to Betty Brady. We wish her well in her new job. We also say adieu to Shirley McNamara and Muriel Garcon, who have decided to make homemaking their “all-time” instead of “part-time” job. Betty Spencer is eagerly looking forward to the arrival of her brother, Peter, from England. Peter will make his home with her and her sister Winnie. Eve Lundberg has “come home.” She and Louis had a wonderful time on their trip to England. She had a really fast flight home, leaving London at 2:30 on Friday afternoon and arriving in Boston at 4:30 on Friday afternoon. (Of course, the 5 hours difference helped.) One Friday Bertha Bernier slipped in the hall and broke her wrist. She spent the week end in the hospital. Eileen Forsythe is back after spending 11 days at St. Vincent’s Hospital. Joe Platukis served his two weeks of military duty at Otis Air Force Base on Cape Cod. At this time of year, it must be more like a vacation than a tour of duty.

The following people received their five-year pins: Helena Bloem, Francis Saunier, Aileen Morin, William Godbout and Mona Paine. These people received their 10-year pins: Bradley Brown, Al Destremes and Florence LeBeau. Ordination Services took place on September 11, 1960 at Northbridge Center Congregational Church for Roland Farrar. A reception was held in the Vestry following the services. Hope you have many happy days of driving, Bill. We welcome a whole new department to Research. The Spindle and Ring Research Department is now located here. Now, all of Research is together.

During the July vacation, Roland F. Graves visited friends and relatives in Arizona and California. He also went to Tombstone, Arizona and Nogales, Mexico. He saw Yellowstone National making a coat and a suit. . . Robert Tancrell has received his 5-year service pin. . . Roland C. Graves is having his third week of vacation on the Cape. . . She was pleasantly surprised by a housewarming the other night. . . We are glad to have Marilyn Blair back with us, after her stay at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Vincent (Beverly) have just bought a home in Millbury and are having a grand time fixing things up. . . While Cathy Larsen was on her vacation tenting out, she was busy getting supper under the tent canopy. She was holding onto one of the poles and stirring something on her little camp stove, then a whirlwind rushed by and blew the canopy away leaving her holding the pole. What a surprised Cathy. . . A large group went to Point Breeze for a Clam Bake. It was good food and a good time.

Kay, daughter of Hope Brown, has completed her course and received her diploma for dietitian. She will now work with the W. H. dietitian at Memorial Hospital. . . Richard Thompson's wife, Anne, has decided to help the working mothers out by running a Day Nursery in Milford.

John Kuiper arrived in the U.S.A., August 29, after spending two months with his folks. He left Amsterdam, Holland at 2 p.m. but did not get very far, as the plane had oxygen trouble and had to turn back. He took another plane about 9 p.m. and arrived in New York at 1 a.m. John says it was rather cold and rainy most of the time, but nonetheless enjoyed every minute of his visit. He was able to attend his sister's wedding. John said he was really very glad to get back to work.

Production Department
by Pat Mendillo and Ted Wallace

The Production Department Golf League finished regular season play on August 22, and the race went right into the final match and even to the last hole before the winner was decided upon. This year the matches were played at the Pine Ridge Club in Upton. The final standings are as follows:

Laverdiere's Redskins
Kearnan's Packers
Smith's Steelers

Dundas' Rams
Walsh's Bears
Lightbown's Lions
Marshall's Colts
Vincent's Giants

The play-offs featuring the top four teams played the semi-finals with Pop Laverdiere's Redskins (Pop, Ted Bisson, Joe Sampson and Ted Wallace) battling it out in the finals against Bill Kearnan's Packers (Bill, Ernie Bonoyer, Freddie Marshall and Don Simmons) for the play-off championship. This match was played on September 17 so we'll report the outcome in the next SPINLDE.

This was a good season, a tip of the hat to President Dick Mombourquette for his fine handling of the many details he had to take care of and to his right-hand man Don Gauthier, League Secretary for a job very well done. Plans are being made for the annual dinner and awards night—always a gala event.

Production Notes: Jack Gilchrist has left us to go into the insurance business. Jack was presented with a briefcase and a pen and pencil set by his friends in the shop and office and with the gifts our best wishes for much luck in his new work. . . Blanche Fullerton has returned to work after being hospitalized. We are all happy to see Blanche back at her desk and looking hale and hearty. . . Bill Lucier has left us to return to school. His duties are being taken over by Francis Magowan. To Bill we send our best wishes and to Francis we extend our heartiest welcome. . . We are told that the WMW Bowling League has reorganized and we were surprised to learn that the office is not represented this year. Does this mean that Production can't put a team in the league and add another leg to the beautiful trophy now in our office? You may recall that our team won "all the marbles" last year and it seems strange that we are not represented this year. Come on you bowlers, don't let them take the trophy away so easily. . . Congratulations to Jim Kane, Planner at 408. Jim won the Club championship at Pine Ridge in Upton. Jim, who has been playing fine golf this year, really put the pressure on the opposition by touring the course in one or two over par in every match. . . Stan Ziembas, former ATF expediter, has left us and is now working for Uncle Sam as a mail carrier. Stan had been a part-time postal employee and reports he likes his full-time job very much. He did say he would reserve final judgment pending the amount of bad weather he may encounter this winter.

That is it for this issue. We would like to remind you that with school now in full swing again we would certainly welcome pictures and information on where your youngsters are furthering their education.

When We Vote, We Choose a ‘Climate’

AT ONE time the most remarkable thing about our federal government was its respect for the freedom of the individual and its noninterference with people’s business affairs. Times change. In recent years the federal government has been playing an increasing role in our private lives and in our economic lives.

Some governmental interference has been justifiable. Antitrust laws, for example, and labor-management legislation. Other actions are hard to defend. Such as the decrease in the value of the dollar, by government’s inflation policies. And the mounting taxes on individuals and business—taxes which curb growth and the making of new jobs.

DESPITE the rapid growth of big government, the basic mechanics of our representative system is unchanged. We who vote can, if we choose, elect the executives and legislators who want to run government economically, reduce taxes, and provide the climate for saving and investment in which jobs are created and sound economic growth can take place.

On the other hand the voters can—under the spell of easy promises—put into office the so-called ‘liberals’ who claim that all problems can be solved by making big government bigger, by spending more taxpayer money, and putting more strains on our business system. They can—but let’s hope they don’t.
